

Allscripts Healthcare Solutions, Inc.
Political Expenditures Policy

As a participant in the healthcare industry, the operations and relationships of Allscripts Healthcare Solutions, Inc. (“Allscripts”), as well as those of its clients, are regulated by a number of federal, state, and local governmental entities. The impact of this regulation on Allscripts is direct, to the extent Allscripts is subject to these law and regulations; and is also indirect, both in terms of the level of government reimbursement available to Allscripts’ clients and in that, in a number of situations, even if Allscripts is not directly regulated by specific healthcare laws and regulations, Allscripts’ products must be capable of being used by Allscripts’ clients in a manner that complies with those laws and regulations. Furthermore, Allscripts expects that the healthcare industry generally, and the healthcare information technology segment specifically, will continue to undergo significant legal and regulatory changes for the foreseeable future.

Allscripts’ policy is to participate in the policymaking process by informing public officials about our positions on issues significant to our clients and our business. Expenditures for these purposes are approved by Allscripts’ Vice President of Government Affairs and reviewed by Allscripts’ Senior Vice President, General Counsel. These expenditures will be reported annually to the Audit Committee of Allscripts’ Board of Directors (the “Audit Committee”).

In recent years, Allscripts has not made political contributions to individual candidates, political parties, or campaigns regarding state or local referenda. Allscripts has no current intention to do so in the future. To the extent Allscripts decides to make any political contribution to an individual candidate, it will promptly report such contribution publicly on Allscripts’ website.

Allscripts complies with all applicable laws and regulations governing political contributions and expenditures and discloses all political contributions and expenditures as required by law. Allscripts does not have a political action committee.

Allscripts engages with government officials at all levels on issues that impact Allscripts and its operations. Allscripts also belongs to various trade organizations that focus on matters concerning Allscripts’ interests. These organizations, which operate on a multi-national, national, and/or state and local level, are principally comprised of healthcare information technology companies and/or healthcare provider organizations, such as health systems. Some of the major trade associations and non-governmental organizations that Allscripts currently belongs to include the Healthcare Information and Management Systems Society (HIMSS), including its Electronic Health Record Association (EHRA); the Bipartisan Policy Center; and the eHealth Initiative (eHI). These organizations may engage in efforts to inform policymakers on issues important to their members. Where possible, Allscripts does not allow trade association dues to be used to make political contributions. These expenditures will also be reported annually to the Audit Committee.
